FAMOUS QUOTE . . .

If one would be successful in the future, let him make the most of the present.

Hail Suppression Report . . .

(Following is a report from the hail suppression company which is operating from a site just west of Didsbury. The project covers portions of the Municipal Districts of Mountain View, Kneehill and Rocky View.)

Two operations were conducted for hail suppression during the week of August 2nd to 8th.

Sunday, August 2nd was a day that gave extensive hail damage over large Alberta. A cold front moved down from the north of Edmonton during midafternoon, accompanied by swaths of severe hail. These storms moved across the front, leaving damage in at least six different areas between Edmonton and the U.S. border.

There were two major areas of hail that affected the hail suppression project. One swept across the country from near the Sunwapta, southward through Olds, on Sunwapta, and then in an easterly direction. Reports indicate 100% damage north of the project and through Sunwapta about four miles wide. While there was severe damage throughout the storm, reports indicate a lessening of the severe damage as it progressed through the area.

About one hour later, a storm moved across the area from the Water Valley-Cromona districts, doing extensive damage in an area south and west of Crossfield. It then caused intermittent damage as it crossed the project.

Earlier in the day a storm crossed the southern fringe of the hail suppression area, giving no report of damage.

To date ground operators have operated over 5000 hours, considering the time at the same date last year. During the past week 95 inches of rainfall have been recorded at the hail suppression office at Didsbury.

WE'RE SHORT-HANDED THIS WEEK . . .

Due to staff holidays and a deadline to meet we're going to give you what we call a "canned column" this time around. We hope you like it — makes good sense in our opinion. Here we go:

War Is A Terrible Thing . . .

We did not see all the Viscount Montgomery series on TV, but we did see most of his final show. He released one bit of information that was not generally known. When questioned about the conflict over the Normandy landings and the differences of opinion that arose between the British commander and the American generals, he explained that the first conflicts arose when the American generals accused him of not carrying his share of the landing battles.

We were always of the opinion that it was Montgomery who accused the Americans of not carrying out their share of the battle. Generals Patton and Bradley both wrote very scathingly of Montgomery at this time. Other than to put matters straight, we can see no good in re-hashing all these differences, but Montgomery certainly has the right to defend his actions.

Montgomery in his last broadcast admitted that he deliberately built himself into a "character" in order to instill confidence into the men he was leading. He left the question in no uncertain terms that he considered himself the supreme commander in the fields where he led his soldiers into battle. While he was a professional soldier, he does not hesitate to say that war is a very terrible thing, but sees no immediate end to wars.

One of his greatest regrets now seems to be that he has lost the friendship of President Eisenhower.

Thousands of his followers will now wonder if it was worth the candle to put his own World War II memoirs into print and circulation. But after all, he did take the surrender of the major German military forces, the original document of which he keeps in his own possession as long as he lives, then to be deposited with national war memoirs.

NOTES FROM

The District
Agriculturist
HOWARD
FULCHER

By H. W. Sutherland, Assistant

It is not too early to think about the harvest, and as one drives through the country the sight of standing barley in the stalks of ripening is quite common. It is well to remember that 30 to 40% of the barley grown on the prairies goes for malting. This fact is one which means a great deal to the farmer because malting barley is usually sold over and above quota and also keep in mind that malting barley is a premium product, only the highest quality is accepted, no second quality is worth while. There has always been much controversy as to what quality is required for malting purposes, but the persons who must be satisfied are the final users of the product, the malting companies.

At this time of year quality in malting barley is often lost by one or more of the following operations:

1. Harvesting — Malting barley often results in shrivelled kernels and lack of maturity. Malting barley must be plump and mature. Green kernels automatically reduce it to feed quality.

2. Poor swathing — Malting barley must be of good color, free from discoloration. If the swath allows the awns to touch the ground or remain buried in the swath, poor quality will result.

3. Poor threshing — Remember, high quality malting barley in the swath is often converted to feed quality by simply passing through the combine. Even a few skinned, peeled or broken kernels in a sample will cause the sample to be rejected for malting. Better to leave the awns attached to the kernels than to set up the machine to remove all the awns and run the risk of also peeling some of the kernels. A slow cylinder speed is recommended together with a little slack in the concaves and a good set of sieves.

4. Once the barley is threshed, care should be used in handling the grain, some damage will result from poor auras, and high speed handling.

The Barley Improvement Institu-

Student's Query

(The following is a letter which appeared in The Calgary Herald last week which we thought was worthy of reproduction in our columns.)

I am a 15-year-old student who attended Grade IX last year in one of our city junior high schools.

Recently I stumbled upon my mother's Grade IV reader, The Canadian Readers — Book IV published in 1928. As I read through it, I was very surprised to discover the selection titled "A Ride For Life," an excerpt from Ralph Connor's book "The Man From Garry." This same selection is presently found in the Grade IX literature text. The rest of the old reader was of the same calibre, equal to that of the Grade IX literature text now in use.

Upon inquiry, I learned that it is not only our literature that has slipped, but also mathematics, English and science.

What is the trouble? Is the younger generation considered incapable of learning as well as their parents? Our present school system has slumped, indeed, if knowledge one generation received in Grade IV, the next receives five years later.

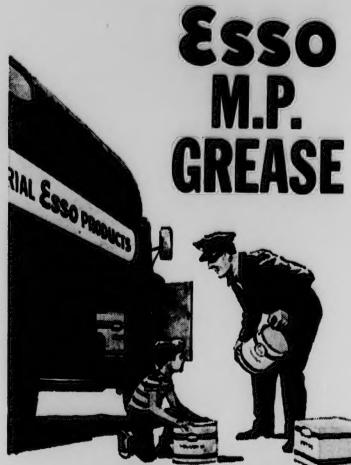

As far as only a student, I will not try to suggest a remedy for this situation, but I believe that if the public is aware of its serious effects, something will be done to rectify it.

tion of Canada estimates that the added time and effort required to thresh and clean 100 bushels of barley will return the farmer dividends of about $5 to $8 per hour during his harvesting operations.

A second point to consider at this time is that of harvest labor. Each year a number of harvesters are placed through this office. This year help may be difficult to obtain and any arrangements you can make with friends, neighbors, or even other farmers who have been haled out, would be to your advantage. In other words, do not count on labor placements from this office, but if you can make no other arrangements notify us as soon as possible.

Also, if you have been in and asked us for local help, please advise us of any change. If you find help on your own or get the job done some other way, please advise us so we can remove your name from our lists.

FREEZER SECTIONS
CLOSURE OR UPRIGHT?

If well built, the two types will operate equally well. The choice depends chiefly on the family's preference.

CHEST

ADVANTAGES

1. Initial cost less, and operating cost slightly lower.

2. Top of chest can be used for counter space.

3. Storage space more flexible for irregular shaped packages, such as keys, bulk, roses, etc.

4. When lid is opened — very little exchange of cold dry freezer air with warm moist outside air, since cold air is heavier than warm. Thus less fluctuation in temperature.

DISADVANTAGES

1. Takes more floor area, which limits where you can locate it. A 12 cu. ft. chest takes 9 square ft.
of floor space, versus 5 1/2 sq. ft.
in upright in the same size.

2. Food not as easy to get to, wire baskets help to organize food, but they take up space, and may be difficult to lift.

3. Shelves more difficult to frost off since when scraped, frost falls to the bottom and more effort required to move it.

4. More reaching and bending required in the removal of packages.

UPRIGHT

ADVANTAGES

1. Takes less floor area, which permits you to locate it more conveniently in the kitchen or utility room. However, you must allow space for the door to swing out so actual floor space saved may not be so high.

2. Easier access to food. Door racks and shelves permit more organized arrangement of food.

3. Easier to defrost.

4. More space to put food packages directly on shelves with freeing surfaces, thus you sharp freeze more food at one time.

DISADVANTAGES

1. Higher initial cost, and slightly higher operating cost.

2. The weight is concentrated,
demands solid floor to support

it.

3. Will need defrosting more often since greater exchanges of warm and cold air.

4. Greater fluctuation in temperature.

5. If stacked to capacity, irregular packages may have tendency to tumble forward when door is opened.

6. Top cannot be used for work space.

DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

[From Our Own Correspondent]

The ladies of the church are continuing to time and work in growing vegetables from the school garden ready for the deep freeze. This always means quite an effort, and in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eby this help is more than appreciated. Fruit from our friends in the Okanagan Valley is beginning to come also. We have received a couple of boxes of apricots this week.

A number of children under 12 years of age left Monday morning for Oult Lake Bible Camp. This group will be there during this week and a number of the ladies from the church have gone to cook and supervise wherever necessary. The older group returned Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Eby of Carmen, Manitoba, visited Miss Gladys Eby on Saturday, and their guests for dinner. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Sam Eby during the week. They were once residents of the district and lived east of town.

Miss Eby visited in Red Deer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hallman for a few days last week. Her nephew, Mr. Arnold Aikart and family were also there, prior to their return to Toronto to resume their church duties there.

Friends of the school will be happy to know that a fine student body will register at the college when it opens in October. Former students are really working for an increase this year and it looks as if it will be accomplished.

The days are passing quickly and very soon school will open here again. We would remind our many friends that any extra vegetables they may have will be gratefully received again this year. During the years our friends have stood by us with their donations. Thus we are able to carry on successfully.

Mrs. Doreen Snyder helped at the college last Monday. She is a graduate from this college and has also completed her Bachelor of Arts in Education at the University of Alberta during the past year. She is presently teaching in Calgary.

Several of last year's students have called in at the college during the past few weeks.

Mr. Loren Traub has completed another section of work in piano under the Toronto Conservatory of Music and will continue his studies this year while he teaches at the college.

CREMONA NEWS

[From Our Own Correspondent]

Mrs. Jane Camp celebrated her 78th birthday at her home last Thursday, August 6th. Mrs. J. Rattray visited with her, as well as her sister, Mrs. W. Robertson of Calgary.

Mrs. L. Sanderman is visiting in the U.S. She is expected home this week.

Mrs. M. Reid and Rev. and Mrs. Morgan plan to visit Mrs. L. Colwell this week. They will travel by plane.

Mrs. G. Brown took Mr. H. Hainier to Calgary recently to meet a nephew of Mr. Hainier's who was arriving from Germany. The newcomer was very impressed with Canada and has applied for naturalization. He will work with Mike at Yellowknife.

Mr. Roland Camp was operating a "farm hand" recently and noticed a wren coming around to sit on the top of it with a worm in her beak. Upon investigating he discovered her nest inhabited by weevils in the pipe of a farm hand.

The new grain elevator on Canoe's corner to Cremona is nearing completion; all that's needed now is the gravel. The village is extending the cement sidewalk from Hettlinger's corner to the end of the street past the post office.

Miss D. Maynes and Mrs. M. Turnbull are expected home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fraser visited recently with the Tom and Clarence Sirs' in B.C. Mr. and Mrs. P. Sirs accompanied the Fraser's and are still holidaying there.

SERVICE BOARD NOTES

W. K. SNYDER

TOAD PLAX: This is the season when toad plax is in the flowering stage. The flowers are yellow in color and resemble a miniature snap-dragon. Leaves are slender and fairly long. The plants grow in tight clusters and are medium green in color, about 18 to 24 inches in height.

Toad plax is the most difficult weed we have to control and, since it loves to grow on fence lines, gravel bars and pits, pasture lands and other rather inaccessible places it is probably the most difficult to eradicate. In the fall, when the ground is kept black throughout the whole season. Otherwise we must resort to chemical to eradicate this weed. This is both costly and very bothersome since the granulated chemical must be spread over the patches by hand or with a grass seeder.

Last year we put out a total of 40 bags of D-B Granular on toad plax. This year we are observing the results of last year's work and it appears to be very excellent, so much so that we recommend nothing but this new granular material for the control of toad plax.

It should be spread at the rate of 4 pounds per 100 square feet. It is applied in the dry form and nature, through the medium of dew or rain, allowing the moisture to put the chemical to work. We have a supply of D-B Granular on hand in 50 pound bags, at $8 per bag.

Westcott News

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Last Sunday evening a large group of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Folkmann to honor their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Art Stabenow, who were celebrating their 35th wedding anniversary while here.

The evening began with a turkey supper, the honored guests being seated at a table beautifully decorated with flowers and candles, centered with a lovely 3-tiered anniversary cake, made by the housewife.

Following the supper Mrs. Herbert Goetzen and Mr. Tony Spooner rendered solos, accompanied by Mrs. Ken Folkmann on the accordion and Mrs. T. Spooner at the organ.

Mr. Fred Rodway acted as toastmaster. He presented Mr. and Mrs. Stabenow with a purse of money from their many friends and relatives.

The honored couple thanked everyone for a lovely evening which marked the occasion and asked all to call on them in their home at Portland, Oregon.

Mrs. Otto Folkmann then expressed her thanks to those who had helped her make the evening such a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle R. Johnson and boys of Veteran, Alta., are holding a dance with the latter's parents. Mr. and Mrs. H. Goetzen. On Sunday two other members of the Goetzen family were present to entertain: Dick Kimmell and Mrs. Elaine Card and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Los Goetzen of Calgary.

A large group of ladies from the district were present at the W.I. conference in Didsbury last Friday. Mrs. Alex Robertson was elected by acclamation to head the W.I. constituency for the next term.

Best wishes are extended Master Dick Murphy, who has been very ill. We understand he will be released from hospital this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Stabenow and Mrs. Gladys Giffin, who have been visiting in the district, will return to their home in Portland, Oregon this week.

A well attended community shower was held at Westcott hall on July 31st for Miss Dorothy McDonald, whose marriage took place in early August.
